

James Denning – Web Copy and Social Updates for Software Client

Text prepared by James Denning

The screenshots on the following pages show some of my work for a developer of tablet publishing software. As part of an alpha-stage marketing refresh, I wrote web site copy, support FAQs, Facebook posts and tweets.

Sample tweets and Facebook posts are included on this page. The web site pages I rewrote follow.

HTML5 apps or native apps for web publishing?

We say HTML5, because they're more efficient to monetize and deploy across different stores and devices. An interview with Kevin Delaney, Editor in Chief with Quartz, a digital-only business magazine from Atlantic Media, affirms our viewpoint. Quartz launches this fall; we're looking forward it.
